2000-2001

2001: A New Odyssey

Just as Odysseus set sail on a new adventure, East Central Community College is about to embark on a new adventure of its own in the year 2000-2001. With new ideas, new leaders, and new technology, East Central will emerge into a world where "no man has ever been." Not only will the college itself be entering a new phase in history and in its life, but also many students, faculty, and administrators will begin a new and exciting odyssey of their own.

ECCC will begin this voyage with a new captain at its helm, Dr. Phil Sutphin. To assist him in guiding the ECCC Ship, Dr. Lavenia Sparkman, Vice President of Instruction, will navigate ECCC into new "seas" of experiences, knowledge, opportunities, and success.

There will also be many other new faces on this voyage. Donna Luke, Director of Admission, Records, and Research will ensure that each crew -member (student) will have adequate jobs and responsibilities. The new faculty members, along with "old" faculty members, will maneuver their way into a new world and help direct the crew members so that this young crew will be well prepared for a different journey at the end of this voyage.

The ship will contain many "old" crew- members who have already weathered the "storms" of an earlier trip, but who are excited about this new journey. However, the new crew members will step onto this ship with mixed emotions: some with terror, some with excitement, and some with anxiety. Some will be old, some young, and some middle-aged. Each one, however, will have an unforgettable adventure into the unknown.

With a fully equipped ship, and fearless leaders, the ECCC will set sail with a bright and illumine flag that reads: "2001: A New Odyssey."

Focus In!!

Say Cheese!!

Sneaker Attack!!

As Wally and Wendy Warrior open their closets on the first day of class, they hear this terrifying scream, "Pick Me! Pick Me!" Who is making this loud demanding command? Why! It's no other than the numerous pairs of tennis shoes that are crammed into closets competing with each other because they want to be seen and admired by the students at ECCC. With such a wide range of styles and purposes of tennis shoes today, it is difficult to select that "right" pair to impress just the right person.

The tennis shoe industry is a multi-million dollar industry. Each company tries to convince the consumer that its shoe is the best. They pay millions of dollars to high profile personalities such as, Michael Jordan and "The Shack" to promote their brand, giving the consumer the impressions that if he buys its brand, he can be "just like Mike."

Did you know that the average student at ECCC has at least 3 pairs of tennis shoes, ranging from sports to casual? The average cost of these shoes is $70 per pair. Can you imagine the nice extra cash a student could have if he were able to cash in his shoes for what he paid for them? Some students would have enough money to pay for one semester's tuition. The most popular brands among ECCC students are Nike and Addidas. Other brands that appear to be popular are K-Swiss, New Balance, and Reeboks.

With this momentous decision (choosing the right tennis shoe) facing Wally and Wendy Warrior each morning, no wonder they're sometimes late for the 8:00 class. Life is full of decisions! So next time you open your closet door, make a wise choice because all "eyes" are on you and the loose "tongue" will tell.

Senior Day

Senior Day at ECCC is a special day set aside for the area seniors to entice them to select ECCC as their choice of college to further their education. On these days, ECCC rolls out the carpet for these special students.

The purpose for Senior Day is to get the area seniors from the district to look over the campus, see some of the activities that are offered to students, as well as educational, vocational, and other opportunities. Senior Day is held two times in the spring. This past year 980 seniors attended these two days. The program for Senior Day is designed to inform and to entertain. The Warrior Corps, the Counselors, and Vice President of Instruction are responsible for the festivities of the day. The program usually includes the following activities: Registration, Welcome Session and Orientation, Focus/Interest Sessions, Collegian's Concerts, and Picnic on the Mall.

The students were given a survey as to what they liked best about Senior Day. Answers varied from getting out of high school for a day, seeing good looking girls and guys to more serious opinions such as seeing what college life is like and looking at the various courses and majors offered.

Part of what I love about teaching at East Central is the opportunity to interact with students at events like this Coffee House. When I came to East Central, I was determined to have cultural events and activities away from the classroom because I think that good literary discussions and conversations stimulate the soul, mind, and heart — no matter where they take place. I always like to have more opportunities to discuss literature, especially poetry.

Miss ECCC

McKenzie Mack

McKenzie Mack is Miss ECCC for 2000-2001. McKenzie is an education major who plans to complete her education at the University of Southern Miss. She feels that it is through education "that all doors can be opened to infinite possibilities." McKenzie's philosophy is that "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." The most important thing in McKenzie's life is that she keeps God first and continues to have faith in Him. Secondly, is her family who has encouraged and motivated her no matter what. The next thing is education. She feels that by completing her education, she can be a better person and a successful person in life. McKenzie is a member of the Centralettes, SIFE (Students in Free Enterprise), Warrior Corps, and ECCC Gospel Choir. She has won many awards in her two years at East Central. A True Friend

When students came to the library at the beginning of the fall semester this year, they found several new items that were available for their use — computers and more computers! A plan to add twelve new computers already available for use was begun in the summer of 2000. It is anticipated that by spring semester, the plan will be fully implemented. Of the computers available, four are dedicated to the online catalog, four are dedicated solely to word processing functions and the other computers are capable of accessing the Internet or word-processing functions.

With an average of eighty students per week using the library, it has been documented that some traditional library services such as circulation of books have decreased while the use of the Internet, the Magnolia databases and other online resources have increased dramatically. The availability of online resources via the Internet provides library resources to students even when the library is closed for traditional services!

Regardless of the methods used to conduct research of the tasks that need to be accomplished, the library staff is willing to provide assistance to students in any way possible.

Not Just in the Classroom!

As the year 2000 began, ECCC sailed into new, strange, yet exciting waters. One of these new adventures was a new technological tool to increase ECCC's service to its students and community. This ingenious instrument is called Mississippi Virtual Community College (MSVCC). A student no longer has to be physically present in a traditional classroom setting to take a college course. MSVCC is a cooperative of Mississippi's fifteen Community colleges. Through MSVCC students can take courses from anywhere in Mississippi. This new learning tool greatly enhances the community colleges' distance learning resources including faculty, course, support services, and technology.

At the present, MSVCC serves over 3200 students throughout Mississippi. ECCC has 103 students enrolled in eleven courses through MSVCC. A student may ask himself, "How do I know if I can manage a course online?" Well, there are certain things a student should know. First, internet courses are not easier than the traditional classroom. Second, these courses require access to computer technology. This type of learning technology takes discipline. It's very hard to work on a report or finish another assignment while your friends are out having fun.

Teachers who have taught and are now teaching online courses for ECCC state that these online courses hold a vital position in the education process. These students who could not take courses before because of families, careers, etc. can now take courses in their own homes. The type of student that succeeds in these courses are very responsible, as well as self-motivated.

The MSVCC is yet another opportunity to meet the needs of the five county area. So check it out. This might be an outlet for you to reach your educational goals.

A Journey Into Music Land

8:00 A.M. Theory class, Thursday recitals, piano lab, daily practice, band, choir, solo performances . these are some of the things music majors live by as they move toward their eventual goal, becoming edu cators, performers, or business people in the field that they have a passion for—Music!

Why someone would choose music, as a career is an easy decision for any music major. When you hav music in your blood, you want to spend the rest of your life sharing this passion with anyone who will lis ten, so why not get paid for it also??

Here at ECCC, all music majors begin their work towards a music education degree in one of three fields Band, Choir/Voice, or Piano. After they complete their two years here, they may choose to remain in musi education or branch out into a more specific field such as performance or music business.

The one class that traditionally "makes or breaks" many a music major is Music Theory. In virtually ever college, it is a five day a week, two year course, and serves as the "stock" or, starting ingredient, if you wil of any music college career.

Besides the usual core classes that all academic students sign up for, all instrumental music majors als must take piano lessons, voice lessons, as well as intense lessons on their main instrument. Most musi majors are also involved in at least two or more performing groups, so for a music major, many "social time hours must be sacrificed for practice, travel, and performance events.

The next time you get into a movie soundtrack, listen to the music in a commercial, or hum your favorit T.V. theme, remember, someone, somewhere, majored in music to be able to bring you those memorabl sounds.

To the Students of East Central Community College:

The Wo-He-Lo is your official record of student life at East Central Community College for the College year 2000-2001. This is a book that you will cherish for the rest of your life and one that your future co-workers, children, and grandchildren will find endlessly amusing.

A personal anecdote will illustrate my point. In the 1970's, I was a teacher at Meridian High School. As you might expect, I had "that '70's Show" look. My hair was blacker, longer, and thicker. I had a mustache and wore polyester bell-bottoms with wide ties. One of the instructors here at East Central was looking through an "old" yearbook from Meridian and found my picture. You can imagine the entertainment that picture spawned.

So, as you pursue your goals in life, your "official student record" will be there to remind you of the good times you had at East Central. When you return to campus for your 50th reunion, your 2001 Wo-He-Lo will be the one book you will bring and wonder what has happened to all of your classmates and instructors. They will all look so much older than you.

Have a great life and be prepared to laugh and reminisce for many hours.

In addition, Wilson and her Lady Warrior teammates placed third in overall competition. East Central will host the second annual Warrior Showdown Rodeo October 26-28 at the Neshoba County Coliseum in Philadelphia.

The privilege of working on the Wo-He-Lo has been very special to us and the experience we have gained is priceless. We will always remember the moments of laughter and the times of despair we went through to create this annual. The staff has devoted a great deal of time and effort to put this publication together. Even though we have worked extremely hard, we still had time to enjoy ourselves. Everyone on the annual staff grew closer, and the friendships formed will last forever.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to our advisor, Patsy Moore. She was there every step of the way. A special thanks goes to the annual staff for their hard work and dedication. Also we would like to thank the Public Relations Department for their enormous help with photographs.

We hope that you will have as much pleasure looking through the annual as we had making it. So take your time and look back carefully at the memories we have all shared. This is our hope: that just as we do, you'll linger over each page and get lost in "A New Odyssey."
